Dear Sirs:

With reference to the changing of canons and specifically referring to Same Sex Marriage, I would like to say that no matter how I feel personally, the truth is that God's Word should never be tampered with. I have always believed in the Holy Bible even if sometimes I didn't quite understand some of it. I never ever felt that I had the right to decide which verses were appropriate and which were not. If I did that, then I would have to consider it all rubbish. Either it is Holy Scripture or it is not. I have enough fear of the Lord that I wouldn't dare enter that place.

Therefore, I stand on both marriage Rites in the Book of Common Prayer as well as The Book of Alternative Services which are the norm of the Anglican Church of Canada – there is no union outside of that between a man and a woman. We can never bless what God has not created or ordained. Also Romans 1: 18-22 is another example.

Yours sincerely,

Mr. Ken Jones
